

VendorClear Backs Project C.U.R.E. To Aid in Haiti Relief Efforts Project C.U.R.E. Accepting Medical Supply Donations Now

Eden Prairie, MN (January 22, 2010) – VendorClear, a leader and pioneer in web-based vendor access services for healthcare facilities, today announces their plans to back Project C.U.R.E. as they work to obtain and deliver much-needed medical supplies for the victims of Haiti following the recent earthquake.

Project C.U.R.E. is a Denver, Colorado-based nonprofit organization who has worked in Haiti providing medical supplies for fifteen years. With the recent devastation of the earthquake, they are increasing their efforts and are looking for medical, first aid and hygiene supply donations.

“Project C.U.R.E. is a great organization, working hard to make a difference for the unfortunate victims of Haiti and their families,” stated Mike Schreiber, Managing Principal for VendorClear. “As a company in the healthcare industry, their mission hits close to home for us. We want to do our part and encourage anyone who is looking for ways to contribute, to consider supporting Project C.U.R.E. Regardless of the type of donation, time or other resources, any help makes a difference.”

A list of the first aid, medical supplies and hygiene products Project C.U.R.E. is currently accepting for Haiti relief efforts can be found on their web site at www.projectcure.org. Supplies can be dropped off at or mailed to one of four distribution centers nationwide (www.projectcure.com.org/about-us/locations). People can also contact Project C.U.R.E. directly to arrange deliveries and pick-ups.
